KAYLEY LEON

Kayley Leon is a dual-licensed lawyer, called to the bar in Ontario and the State of California, with a legal practice focused on representing sport organizations across all levels- from grass-roots sport clubs to national and provincial sport organizations (NSOs and PSOs), multi-sport bodies, and professional sport leagues and teams.

As a passionate representative, Kayley regularly advises sport organizations on rules of play, safe sport compliance (UCCMS), doping, governance, and other matters. She has represented her clients in arbitration and litigation before a variety of decision-makers across Canada.

To help her clients anticipate and navigate potential challenges, Kayley also proactively reviews and revises internal policies, contracts and by-laws, and tailors training for her clients on a range of topics such as safe sport, respect in the workplace and good governance.

Kayley's dedication to sport extends outside of her legal practice. She serves on the Board of Directors of the Canadian Ski Hall of Fame and Museum, where she contributes to governance and strategic direction focused on the preservation of Canada's sporting legacy.
